SPACE STILL AVAILABLE FOR THE CITY OF DUBLIN'S 2016 LEADERSHIP ACADEMY, "INSIDE DUBLIN"

DUBLIN, Calif., July 27, 2016 – This fall, the City of Dublin will host Inside Dublin, its annual leadership academy designed to provide community members with advanced knowledge of municipal operations and community activities. A few spots still remain for the 2016 program, and residents interested in participating can apply now to be part of this year's class.

The goal of the academy is to inform the participants about City services, the issues (present and future) facing the community, and to encourage community involvement at all levels. The program will include presentations on topics such as public safety, local government, and community services. Since its inception over 11 years ago, Inside Dublin has graduated over 200 students.

Inside Dublin is a seven-week program (six Thursday evenings, from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m., and one Saturday field trip) beginning on Saturday, October 1, 2016. Class size is limited to the first 20 candidates (applicants must live or work in Dublin). Interested parties should contact Taryn Gavagan Bozzo, Executive Aide, at 925-833-6650, or download an application from the City's website at <http://www.dublin.ca.gov/insidedublin>.
